THE BELLS BENEATH BRACKENFORD

Kael Drakeshield | Session 3

The Shrine in Greyfen Wood

Elira wanted us to investigate a ruined shrine outside town. One of the missing bell-ringers had supposedly been seen travelling in that direction.

Travelled north through Greyfen Wood. Very dense forest, lots of old stone markers. Found a ruined shrine dedicated to Saint Orra.

Met Ysabet Rusk, a human woman living in the shrine. Former member of the Ashen Choir.

She was suspicious of us but recognised the symbol on our parchment.

Information from Ysabet:

- The Ashen Choir is an organisation devoted to an ancient magical mechanism.
- They believe a sealed power exists underneath Brackenford.
- The old bell tower and bellfoundry were built over older foundations.
- They are searching for an object called the Brass Astrolabe.
- The mechanism is referred to as the Gloam Engine.

Ysabet said the Engine can weaken the barrier between the living world and the Shadowfell.

She also mentioned a man named Magister Othric Vale, who appears to be leading the local operation.

Combat: Ambushed outside the shrine by shadow wolves and two masked cultists.

Echo was able to distract one of the wolves while Niko and Faelan dealt with the other. Karma's magic caused one cultist to lose control of his weapon.

After combat, Ysabet agreed to help us if we retrieved the astrolabe before the Choir.

She suggested searching the Drowned Archive beneath the old river district.