THE BELLS BENEATH BRACKENFORD

Faelan Haversham | Session 1

Brackenford

General observations

Brackenford is an old frontier settlement. Much of the stonework appears older than the town's recorded founding date.

The bell tower is likely built over an older structure.

Warden Elira Thorne

Hired the party to investigate three missing bell-ringers.

Possible connection between disappearances and unusual bell activity.

The drowned creatures

Bodies appeared to have been dead for an extended period. Blue luminescence visible through the chest cavity.

Examined residue from one corpse.

Possible alchemical compound. Not enough evidence to identify.

The blue material may be involved in reanimation rather than preservation.

Recovered token bearing three waves.

Hypothesis: Symbol represents an old waterway guild or organisation.

Personal observation: The residue reacted weakly when exposed to a small amount of my blood. Worth investigating later.
