THE BELLS BENEATH BRACKENFORD

Kael Drakeshield | Session 8

The Gloam Engine

Entered Saint Orra's Reservoir through the lower water channels.

The reservoir is much older than the rest of Brackenford. Huge stone chamber, flooded walkways, ancient carvings.

Found the final chamber beneath the reservoir.

The Gloam Engine was suspended over a deep circular pool. Massive rotating metal rings with a central black crystal.

Othric Vale was already there.

He had activated the astrolabe and was using the bell's resonance to open a breach into the Shadowfell.

Combat was extremely difficult. Several shadow creatures emerged from the breach.

Initiative notes:

- Othric
- Niko
- Kael
- Shadow creature
- Faelan
- Karma
- Idris

Othric used shadow magic and some sort of force manipulation. Echo was able to attack him from behind while my physical body protected the others.

Faelan damaged one of the ritual inscriptions. Karma destabilised the energy around the crystal. Idris managed to interfere with the mechanism itself.

Niko struck the astrolabe free from its housing.

The Engine destabilised.

Othric disappeared into the breach just before it collapsed. Unsure whether dead or escaped.

The reservoir began flooding. We escaped through the western passage.

Outcome:

- Gloam Engine disabled.
- Breach into Shadowfell closed.
- Brackenford saved, for now.
- Missing bell-ringers rescued.
- Othric Vale's fate unknown.
- Astrolabe recovered, although damaged.

Elira paid us the promised reward and an additional 100 gold each.

Ysabet stayed in Brackenford to help investigate the remaining Choir members.

Still need to understand Eldrin's involvement and whether Othric knew about my Echo before the incident.